

WHY OUR STATE WILL VOTE FOR CHAS. E. HUGHES

Charles E. Hughes in his personal platform and the platform of his party offers Utah much that Utah needs for the advancement of Utah industry and the preservation of Utah Americanism. His platform as a candidate is to Mr. Hughes his program as an official. As governor of New York he demonstrated a promise with him is something to be kept, a pledge something to be redeemed.

Utah has always prospered under protection and has never prospered without it. The prosperity of today with metals, sugar and wool selling at high prices, is under a protection more profound than the highest possible tariff can give a protection for which the flames that are consuming the structure of civilization in Europe are wholly responsible. Behind a Chinese wall of protection higher than the most radical of protectionists could conceive in his wildest dreams, the American producer commands both his own market and that abroad. Utah is enjoying a war born prosperity that began with the war and must end with it if against the coming day of peace there is placed between the Utah producer and his European competitor, his competitor in South America and the Antipodes, nothing more substantial than the existing Democratic revenue tariff and Democratic promises.

Mr. Hughes pledges for himself and for his party that the commodities Utah produces shall be protected by tariffs during his incumbency as they have been protected by war during his rival's incumbency. He promises for Utah the prosperity of protected industry in time of peace to replace the prosperity that is bathed in blood and that must of necessity cease when blood ceases to flow. He promises for Utah a return of the brand of prosperity that flourished in Utah when Mr. Wilson was elected and that was abruptly halted by his program of assault upon industry.

A prosperity dependent upon circumstances over which the United States can exercise no control must of necessity be but temporary for circumstances change. The war will not last forever, indeed indications multiply that it is already entering upon its most intensive and final stage. Millions of men will turn from destruction to production. Lessons learned by the mobilization and concentration of industry for the making of war will be applied to the constructive arts of peace. Europe, impoverished and debt ridden, drained of gold, will feverishly produce commodities for sale in the market where has accumulated the greatest supply of gold ever before acquired by any single nation in the history of the world, and that nation is the United States.

Against that influx of cheap foreign goods upon the American market after the war, using the exact expression of President Wilson and Secretary of Commerce Redfield, there is now interposed only an anti-dumping law which is pronounced unworkable by all but its authors, and a tariff law drawn by a party which has repeatedly declared "it to be a fundamental principle that the federal government, under the constitution, has no right or power to impose or collect tariff duties except for the purpose of revenue" and that has always demanded that "the collection of such taxes shall be limited to the necessities of government."

Utah will need this ante-bellum protection as much as any other state in the union. This state enjoys no exclusive production of sugar, or wool or of metals. When the world is at peace and at normal production, every Utah producer finds in the American market a competitor from abroad who can produce and sell more cheaply than he and against whom he must have protection. That protection Mr. Hughes offers Utah. Utah needs Mr. Hughes and will vote for him overwhelmingly.—Herald Republican.

BEAUTY PARLORS OPENED AT THE PARISIAN HERE

One of the most interesting announcements made thru this issue of the Republican, (especially to the ladies) is the fact that "The Parisian" has opened beauty parlors in their establishment on Center Street. With Miss Callahan, a graduate of the Marinello System of Beauty Culture, in charge. These parlors like the Parisian Ready-to-wear department is the very acme of perfection in appointment and detail. In beauty and refinement it is what one would expect to find in the most metropolitan centers. Aside from being a source of pride to all residents of this city, the news of the opening of these parlors will be a boon to the women of Logan and the valley. All kinds of facial, scalp and hair treatments are made by an expert, and patrons of these parlors can be assured the most thorough and satisfactory treatment. These parlors are "things of beauty" as is the Parisian Store itself and to be appreciated must be seen.

JENSEN CANDY COMPANY IS MAKING GOOD

Very few people realize the growth of the W. F. Jensen Candy Co. on North Main Street and they could not realize the importance of this company in the community without making a visit to the candy factory and see the number of girls and young men who are kept constantly busy in the manufacture of candies which are used to keep up the retail stock of his unpretentious candy parlors and to supply his wholesale trade. Mr. Jensen started in the confectionery business in a small way about four years ago in Logan. Today it is necessary to employ the services of a big Denby truck to transport his manufactured goods to the consumers in all the towns of Cache Valley and he has a good healthy demand for his candies in Box Elder county, in the towns of Garland, Tremonton and Collinston.

The display of hard candies which Mr. Jensen exhibited at the county fair attracted wide attention and it was really a marvel to many to know that such a big variety of manufactured candies are being turned out by this growing concern.

The New York World's Estimate of Mr. Hughes

October 6, 1906—"Mr. Hughes' positive methods as a reformer are known to all men. He dealt with insurance corruption and high finance crookedness as relentlessly as he now unmask office seeking demagogism. His record is to be read in the statutes passed at Albany."

October 8, 1906—"He has appealed not as a partisan to partisans but as a citizen to citizens. The addresses of the scholarly lawyer have been simple and straightforward, strong in sincerity, effective in earnestness."

October 11, 1906—"Mr. Hughes said in his Buffalo speech, on October 10, 1906, that he would endeavor to have more money appropriated to enforce labor laws. . . The laws should be enforced cost what enforcement may. Mr. Hughes promises nothing that he cannot and will not perform."

October 12, 1906—"When Mr. Hughes promises to give the people of New York a clean, honest administration, free from boss rule and corruption influence, they can accept his word. His record is that of a man who keeps his word faithfully and scrupulously. When has he ever broken a public promise or repudiated a public pledge?"

October 29, 1906—"No one who knows how strong President Roosevelt's great fight against corporate abuse has made him with his countrymen, can doubt that his manly declaration will be to Mr. Hughes as a tower of strength."
